

A Word from our Members

NCCA Members are Outstanding Individuals and True Professionals

The confidential sharing of relevant, timely, industry specific information with professionals in the chemical industry provides numerous benefits to NCCA members.

Over my ten year association with NCCA, I have found the credit group meetings to be particularly worthwhile. These are excellent opportunities for members to get to know one another, providing valuable contacts and sources of information. Because the participants from member NCCA companies are outstanding individuals and true professionals, I have always benefited from the exchange of information and found my attendance at these meetings to be well worth my time.

Ernie Pouttu
President and CEO
Harwick Standard

Harwick Standard is a management-owned and operated sales, marketing and technical support organization headquartered in Akron, Ohio. Servicing the rubber, thermoplastics and other polymer-related industries for more than 75 years, Harwick Standard operates a nation-wide distribution network supplying products from more than 30 blue chip manufacturers.*

The National Chemical Credit Association (NCCA) is a national organization of credit professionals established in 1938 to facilitate the exchange of commercial credit information among leaders of the chemical industry, as well as provide continual professional education to its members. The NCCA credit interchange is administered by ABC-Amega. ABC-Amega has been managing credit groups since 1965, providing group members with valuable credit information and up-to-date industry-specific information.*